Hubbard School Alma Mater

Hubbard School our alma mater
Stands a school so proud
Red and white our colors wave
Gallantly unfurl
Onward ever be our watchword
Conquer and prevail
We will be forever loyal
Hubbard School we hail!

Hubbard School Pledge

We, the students of Hubbard School,
Pledge that today we will achieve because we believe.
Our goal is to be the very best we can be.

We will respect ourselves as well as others.
"I can't" is not a part of our vocabulary.
To us, reaching for the stars is only one step away,
Because knowledge is the key to success and happiness.

Student Vision Statement

"Hubbard Middle School is a home where we come together at this level in our lives to excel towards our dreams and where we begin with the end in mind."

Hubbard Middle School Leadership Initiative 2010

Principal's Message

Gwynetta Y. Joe

Congratulations. This year we took on the challenge of reading The Seven Habits of Highly Effective Teens By Sean Covey. I know that you will remember the valuable life lessons learned.

Remember the story about filling your "jar" with pebbles and stones. Your life is like a jar. Make time and space for the most important things like health, family and schoolwork. Think of the most important things in your life as stones. Once you have scheduled and made time for important things or stones, use your remaining time for less important things like "facebooking", hanging out or playing video games. It is far better to fill a jar with stones first and add pebbles later to fill in the extra spaces. In other words: remember, prioritize.

Life is about prioritizing so that you can make the most of life. What you must remember is that it is important to include the larger stones in our lives, because if you don't, you are likely to miss out on life altogether. If we give priority to the smaller things in life (pebbles), your lives will be filled up with less important things, leaving little or no time for the things that are most important. Because of this, never forget to ask yourself, "What are the large stones in my life?" And once you identify them, be sure to put them first in your "Jar of Life".

My wish is for you to develop into academically strong, community minded students who are ready for the challenges of high school. Knowing that you are adequately prepared to experience an exciting new phase in your life is thrilling to me. I am so very proud of who you are and what you will grow to be.

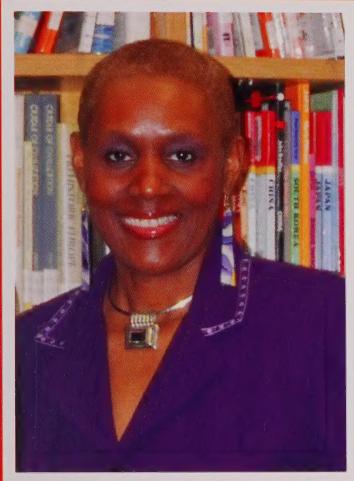

This yearbook, in years to come will become a reminder of the good times; good friends and fine teachers who helped you complete this important period of life. Remember to be courteous and cooperative. Represent yourself with pride. Begin all your endeavors with "The End in Mind" ... that you will be successful!

Sincerely,

Ms. Joe

Dedicated to the students of Hubbard Middle School

I want to teach my students how

To live this life on earth,
To face its struggles and its strife
And to improve their worth.

Not just the lesson in the book,
Or how the rivers flow,
But to choose the proper path,
Wherever they may go.

To understand eternal truth,
And know right from wrong,
And gather all the beauty of
A flower and a song.

For if I help the world to grow

In wisdom and in grace,
Then I feel that I may have won
And I have filled my place,

And so I ask your guidance, God
That I may do my part,
For character and confidence
And happiness of heart.

~ James J. Metcalf ~

"Working together, ordinary people can perform extraordinary feats.
They can lift things a little higher, a little farther, towards excellence."
Thank you, Mr. Billingsley, for all that you do.

Monthly Meetings

In the 2010-2011 school year, Hubbard Middle School students were reading and discussing "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens" by Sean Covey. The seven habits are:

1. Be proactive
2. Begin with the end in mind.
3. Put first things first.
4. Think "win-win".
5. Seek first to understand, then to be understood.
6. Synergize.
7. Sharpen the saw.

The "Follow Me Award" was awarded each month to students who showed a positive example with their behavior by being respectful, following directions, and wearing a uniform and ID badges every day.

Students receive the "Follow Me Award".
